Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Award

Honoring the Davison Family of Peacock Point

Peacock Point has served as the home of five generations of the Davison family. For more than 100 years, generation after generation has lovingly stewarded this unique emblem of historic preservation and land conservation. Today majestic species like Bald Eagles and Ospreys can be seen nesting in the trees and fishing off the beach because of this family's valiant conservation efforts.

Over the last century, the Davison family's contributions to the natural world have been significant. Accomplishments include leading the effort to create the 3,209-acre Oyster Bay National Wildlife Refuge, co-founding the American Museum of Natural History in New York City and protecting their own land as the Kate Trubee Davison Nature Preserve.

Daniel P. Davison served as Vice Chairman of The Nature Conservancy's Global Board where he helped to raise hundreds of millions of dollars for the Conservancy's Last Great Places campaign. He was also a guiding light in the formation of many non-profit organizations, including the Land Alliance. He will long be remembered as one of the greats!

Today, through their philanthropy, Danny's sons, George, Danny and Harry, and their families have ensured that thousands of children of the earth have a forest experience to help them better understand the interconnectedness of the world we live in.

It is with honor that we presented the Davison family with the 2023 Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Award.
